DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1, 2, 3, 6, and 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tassoni 4,615,146 in view of Caton, 2,948,087. '146, figures 1 and 2 and their descriptions, discloses the claimed invention except for a winding unit moving the sanding unit. '087, in a similar device, teaches the use of winding element 80 wrapped around "pulleys" (gears) and cooperating with kinematic means for moving the sanding unit. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to have provided '146 with the winding unit of '087, figure 1, column 4, lines 45-64, to allow each sanding unit to rotate in either direction, without the use of individual drive motors, decreasing the cost and weight of the device. Regarding claim 3, please refer to '146, column 2, lines 9-14. Regarding claim 6, please refer to column 2, lines 63 through column 3, lines 4. Regarding claims 9-12, '146 discloses the support structure is a conveyor belt, and the frame can be moved relative to the structure via jacks 31. '146 does not disclose that the support comprises a plurality of rotating rollers positioned side by side. The examiner takes Official notice that one of ordinary skill would have considered the use of such an old and well known support an obvious functional equivalent to a conveyor belt.

4. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tassoni 4,615,146 in view of Caton, 2,948,087 as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Piggen, 5,339,569. '146 as modified by '087 does not disclose suction means combined with the support structure. '569 teaches that it is old and well known to use a vacuum with a support to hold workpieces during processing. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to have provided '146 as modified by '087 with the vacuum support of '569, figure 3 and its description, to ensure that the workpiece is held securely during processing, to prevent damage to the workpiece.

5. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tassoni 4,615,146 in view of Caton, 2,948,087 as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Ernst, 2,308,187. '146 as modified by '087 does not disclose pressing elements to keep the workpiece in contact with the support structure. In a finishing device, '187 teaches using pressers to hold a workpiece on a support during processing. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to have provided '146 as modified by '087 with the pressing elements taught by '187, figure 1, 5, to ensure proper finishing of the workpiece without damage to the workpiece.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 4, 5, 7, and 8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Other similar devices are cited of interest.
